- virus replication
- viral pathogenesis and disease
- diagnosis and treatment of human, animal, and plant viral diseases
- prevention and control of viral diseases including vaccines

This objective will be achieved through attending and actively participating in class lectures, reading course materials, and performing successfully on examinations.

A goal of the course is to enhance student learning through oral and written communication, reasoning and critical thinking through data analysis, and ethical reasoning.

Turning Technologies Response Cards (Clickers)- Clickers will be used as an optional extra-credit class participation grade. Most classes will include 3-4 clicker questions. You must get at least one question correct to receive credit. You are allowed three excused absences. Your final class participation grade will count as one exam. You must register your Response Card on Blackboard. Bring your fully charged card to every class. Using another person’s card is serious academic misconduct and will be reported to the University Academic Discipline Committee. Violation will also result in loss of participation points and possible expulsion from the course.
Blackboard: You are assigned a Web ID and Password for access to online resources including Blackboard, the UM course management system (https://blackboard.olemiss.edu). Course announcements, Power Point slides, study materials, grades, and other course information will be posted on a regular basis. You should consult Blackboard daily for important class messages.

Exams and Grading: There will be regular four exams including the final exam. Each of the 4 exams will consist of 40 multiple choice questions for a total of 160 points. A final grade is calculated based on total points earned out of a possible 160 points.

The optional class participation grade will count as an additional exam and you may earn up to 40 points based on the total number of questions you get correct during the semester. These extra credit points are added to your exam 1-4 total score and a final grade is calculated based on total points earned out of a possible 200 points. Your final course grade will be determined based on the higher final grade calculated with or without the class participation grade.
